

Integration should not be n for granted – President

Kagame launches One Laptop per Child

Pupils demonstrates the technicalities involved in laptops to President Paul Kagame and Nicholas Negroponte, founder and Chairman of One Laptop per Child, during the official launch of the computer project at Jali club, on 1 October 2008. (PPU photo)

BY JAMES
KARUHANGA

PRESIDENT Paul Kagame has said that enabling all primary school children to own computers was the government's ultimate goal. This was during the official launch of the One Laptop per Child (OLPC) initiative at Jali Club yesterday.

"Our goal is to continue finding means and ways to provide all primary school children in Rwanda with this important learning tool," Kagame said, adding that various schemes, including encouraging parents to participate in buying computers for their children, would be used.

TO PAGE 4

Nominate Online!!!

Nominate an institution/solution that you know for the Rwanda National ICT Awards. Go to the RITA website ( www.rita.rw/integoawards ). Just click on the nomination form and fill the details of the nominee, the category for which you are nominating them and why you think they deserve the award. Please remember to indicate your contact details just in case the judges need to learn

Proudly Sponsored by